

Brandon
DOB: April 2000

Brandon is a young man with a great sense of humor. He can be very smart when he wants to be. He likes to talk about things that don't pertain to school and he can tell you a lot of odd facts. He likes to stay busy or else he can get bored easily. He recently played on the basketball team at school and he was very dedicated during the basketball season. He likes to play video games and create raps. Like most teen boys, he loves to eat!

Brandon will need a family who will be an advocate for his educational needs. Brandon has made big improvements in school and he is getting good grades. Brandon needs a family that will be understanding of his past and give him space when he needs it. Brandon needs parents who will be committed to him and give him the time needed to open up.

Brandon will need continued therapy to address his Post Traumatic Stress Disorder, Attention Deficit Hyperactive Disorder, and grief and loss. Due to Brandon's past he can be very independent and it may take some time for him to get use to the idea of joining a family permanently. He would do well with any age of siblings and it would also be beneficial for him to have older children in the home who can be a good influence on him.
